Lee Bryan, That Puppet Guy • www.puppetguy.com

Atlanta based puppeteer, Lee Bryan "That Puppet Guy" is a nationally recognized touring artist who combines live vocal characterizations and songs with innovative puppet designs.

This production uses beautifully costumed hand puppets and live vocal characterizations to poke a little Southern-fried fun at the classic Hans Christian Andersen story of a kingdom in search of a "real" princess.

Twenty mattresses later, everyone in the kingdom learns not to "judge a book by its cover" as the new Princess is welcomed into the family.

In the end, it's "happily ever after, y'all" in this witty, one-of-a-kind adaptation.

THE TIM REDOVIAN
 MEMORIAL FUND

TRMF is a 501 (c) 3 organization founded in memory of Tim Redovian, a gifted young performer whose dreams live on through those who love the arts.

That Puppet Guy

North Carolina
 Museum of Art

Your energy and wit was contagious - it was a pleasure to have you share your talents and beautiful array of puppets with us.

Atlanta
 Journal-Constitution

Bryan is a playful mimic, a shameless punster, and a silly lyricist who's not afraid to take literary liberties in the name of a good rhyme.

Pleasant Hill
 Presbyterian, GA

The children's faces say it all - eyes wide open, smiles frozen on their faces, and laughter that proves that they are enjoying your show.

Center for Puppetry Arts

Since we invite only the best, we are honored to have you.

Charleston County Public Library, SC

Just a quick note of thanks for the FANTASTIC programs you did for our Summer Reading Program.

Kincaid Elementary, GA

Your unique talent combined with the music and choreography that created the performance made it one of the most popular and well received programs.

Dallas Theatre

Your blend of professionalism, enthusiasm and incredible talent have made you someone we will book over & over again.
